General Greely Corrects Wrong Impressions of the Pacific Slope.

WASHINGTON, March 24th.—In pursuance to a resolution introduced by Senator Mitchell, there has been printed a letter from General Greely of the Signal Service upon the railroads of the Pacific slope and the Western States and Territories. Accompanying General Greely's letter is a paper by Lieutenant Glassford, of the Signal Service, discussing the wet and dry seasons, the rainfall and snowfall in different portions of the summer rain belt in Arizona, etc., fortified with charts and tables exhaustive of the subject. These tables give observations from 661 stations of average precipitation for years, and three months, and the charts show separately the maximum, minimum and mean rainfall for every month and year.

The terms of the resolution made it General Greely's duty to express his views upon the importance of such maps and charts and tables, and also inferentially to express his opinion on the question of recurring droughts in Texas and in relation to the amount of increasing or decreasing the rainfall in the various mountainous regions of the United States." Pursuant to this instruction, General Greely discusses the matter at great length.

He says that much research is required to determine the rainfall in the trans-Missouri country by the publication of official documents which will be the dispensing of the erroneous and injurious impressions which have long prevailed regarding this extensive area. In this regard, the territory was viewed as hardly suited for civilized man, its enormous plains and vast mountains being represented as arid and desert regions, unsuited for cultivation, and having little rainfall. The change, adventure, exploration and circumstances have pushed the frontier westward until the myths of the Great American Desert to the north and of the rainless "Staked Plains" to the south have practically disappeared.

It is none the less true, however, that the latest and most reliable American book on the meteorology of this country is the "Handbook of the Rockies and Rocky Mountains," including portions of Utah, New Mexico and California, in which the Great American Desert is a "region which is almost entirely destitute of rain" and that farther on the east side of the Rocky Mountains "the country is a barren desert, most without rain."

Another great value of the charts is the bringing to general attention and consideration the very extensive areas of country in what has been known as "the arid region," when late rainfall can be observed.

He says that rainfall can be observed throughout the country, and that there has been usually attributed to the semi-humid and humid regions, including portions of the Pacific slope, one-one and two Galing guns.

It is practically settled that Captain J. Crittenden Watson, at present on duty as President of the Board of Inspection for vessels for the Pacific coast, will be ordered to command her.

President Harrison's Sunday.

WASHINGTON, March 24th.—President Harrison, accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. McKee, Russell Harrison and Miss Russell Harrison, attended divine service at the Church of the Covenant this morning. Mrs. Harrison was unable to be present because of the cold. Rev. Dr. Mitchell of Buffalo preached. The President's appearance attracted the sympathetic notice of his friends. He is very pale, and seems to be worn out by his labors since March 4th.

Tent Opposes Reid.

WASHINGTON, March 24th.—The first eight days of the month have not been received from the eight-inch gunners who have been serving on the Signal Corps.

The Ordnance has decided that in place of the two eight-inch breech-loading rifles intended with the half-ball bats to the front entrance were to be placed free passage, but were driven back. They used their bats and rocks in breaking in windows and doors of the buildings. They so noise that their shopping and shouting excited and alarmed the people in the street and caused wildly exaggerated rumors to spread, which caused the police to send two patrolmen to the scene of the outbreak to the men. In less than one hour after the leaders were locked up in their rooms and everything was quiet. No one was hurt. The leaders were participants in a similar outbreak two years ago.

OTTAWA, March 24th.—This morning the steamer Colorado, which arrived to-day, reports that when 180 miles south of New York she found a steamer's small life-raft with five dead men. The raft had been adrift for two days.

IDEAL PAVEMENTS.

It is to be hoped that there is no exaggeration in the reports that reach us of the new pavement invented by a Mr. Busse of Leyden, Prussia, and who is said to have successfully introduced it into the city of Hanover. Its composition is, in the main, of indiarubber in such combination with other substances that it has wearing quality and still remains noiseless. It is said to have the eminent virtue of being easy for the feet of horses, in that they do not "sound" as upon either cobble, Belgian pavement, or yet macadam.

This latter consideration is one that receives so little attention nowadays in most cities, that the people of the age are open to the charge of cruelty to "man's best friend." The time must come in the humanity of civilization when it will be deemed barbarism to drive horses over such tiring pavements as now prevail.

They have but one solitary virtue—but one reason for their use is or can be advanced by any one—that they are enduring, as compared to natural roads; which is to say that with all our progress in inventive arts we have not been able as yet to bring into general use a pavement that does not torture our patient servitor, the horse, in order that we may not be put to the trouble of frequently repairing our streets. There are two cities in the Union with highways that are very nearly perfect. One is the National Capital and the other is a California town. But in most places only a small portion of the highways are given a smooth elastic surface that receives the blow of the hoof of the horse squarely, and gives it full reactive power, instead of pivoting it upon wet and slippery cobble that bear upon the soft part of the animal's hoof, and deprive him, by reason of the uncertainty of the traction, of fully one-quarter of his power. For similar reasons our vehicles are drawn with difficulty and are early blocked to pieces.

Our present "economy" of the day is a contest between the pavement constructors and the wagon builders. The first lay a pave with the idea of resisting, by interposition of the most stubborn obstacles, the action of wheels, and the second meet this policy by the construction of vehicles to overcome the resistance, and hence that most seriously assail those obstacles. If current accounts are reliable, the Busse pavement comes very near to filling the idea of a perfect roadway, because it proceeds upon precisely opposite policies to those stated.

By offering the least resistance to vehicles and the action of the feet of horses, it reduces the disposition to build vehicles that tear up and break down the roadways, and at the same time, by use of an elastic composition it conserves wearing quality, because the blow is reduced between the wheel of the vehicle or the foot of the horse and the resisting surface.

Busse first used his invention in paving the Goethe bridge. The authorities of Berlin, who are never carried away by enthusiasm, were so attracted by the apparent virtue of the invention, that they last summer had a large area of one of the most used streets covered with the material as an experiment. The result will be looked for with interest, and if it proves satisfactory, we are therefore to accept it out of hand, for in our own country we are promised in the use of asphaltum as good results as are asked for, at unduly a lower cost than attaches to any substance into the composition of which rubber enters, without the decay or loss of elasticity inseparable from rubber. The improvements that are being made in the methods of using asphaltum for pavements, and the success that has met its use in Washington and Santa Barbara, indicate that it has for us all the promise of the ideal pavement. Some experiments made in this vicinity, and the claims of California constructors with that material in certain combination with other substances and under improved methods of laying the material, point to the probability that we can have, if we wish them, roadways equal to all that is claimed for the German discovery.

THE SALVATION ARMY IN ENGLAND HAS changed its tactics. It has found that there is a shorter road to a man's sympathies than through street marches and drum-beating—the stomach. After "shouting" to the poor and wretched of London for ten years, it has assailed them in a quarter that will do more than preaching to make them take "kindly" to Christianity. It has opened food and shelter depots, and by works rather than by words proved the charity that is the superstructure of all true religion. It has also discovered that cleanliness is next to godliness, and hence it requires all its beneficiaries to wash and be clean in body before the washing away of sin is undertaken. If the Army sticks to its new method, it will indeed be an army of salvation. It has now in London five homes for abandoned women, and its success with this class is very great, because it first takes the woman out of evil ways and makes it possible for her to abandon vice, and when this is accomplished, it finds it has a hearer who listens if for nothing more than of gratitude. That point once gained, the Army finds its battles are comparatively easily won. With its soldiers engaged in such "works," the Salvation Army will come into very much more of public favor, and will never want means for the Commissary and Quartermaster departments.

THE PROMPTNESS OF THE DEPARTMENT OF STATE IN THE KEMPINSKI CASE PROVES HOW MUCH FOREIGN GOVERNMENTS RESPECT THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, WHEN ONCE WE MANIFESTED A DISPOSITION TO BE RESPECTED. Under the administration of Mr. Cleveland an American citizen was impressed

into the service of France and imprisoned, and another into the Italian army. In one case it took Mr. Bayard seven months to begin to move, and in the other a whole year. In neither case was release effected for some seventeen months, and only then, after a great deal of unwinding of red tape. General Harrison entered upon the duties of his office on the 4th of March and this is the 25th, yet we have news that the demand upon the Russian Government for the release of Kempinski, who was seized in January and condemned to transportation to a Siberian prison in February, was acceded to even before it was possible for the official papers to reach St. Petersburg. The haste with which Russia abandons its claim that the young man is a subject of the empire, and confesses that it had no right to imprison him, illustrates the difference between the ways of protecting American citizens abroad under Democratic and Republican ideas of doing business.

No matter which of the two Presidents Harrison appoints to the Supreme bench, by the choice of either Judge Gresham, of Indiana, or of Judge Cooley, of Michigan, the tribunal will be strengthened. In age and reading it is to be said that Judge Cooley is the superior of Judge Gresham, while the latter has had a little more extended service upon the bench and in public life, and has a judicial mind as his competitor. Judge Cooley is sixty-five years of age, and was on the Supreme Bench of Michigan for fourteen years; he is the author of numerous valuable law books and histories, the most notable being his treatise on constitutional law. He is the most prominent member of the law faculty of the University of Michigan. Judge Gresham is fifty-six years of age, and has occupied the bench of the United States District and Circuit Courts for eighteen years. He was a soldier of the Union and rose from a subordinate position to the rank of Major-General. He filled two positions in the Cabinet of President Arthur, first that of Postmaster-General and then that of Secretary of the Treasury. Between these two eminent jurists the President is very likely to choose.

A SERIOUS BLUNDER.

A lady nearly strangled by a Fatigue Trouser.

A lady well-known in the Western Addition has been a great sufferer for years with indigestion and dyspepsia. Struck with the testimonials praising Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla, she sent for a bottle. The druggist, not having it, took them into taking another sarsaparilla. As the leading sarsaparilla uses mallow root in the extract, the effect of the extraction of ledges of poison in the sarsaparilla already distilled was disastrous, almost prostrating her before the mistake was rectified. She then called upon Mrs. Fowler, of 322 Ellis street, whose name was among those cured by Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla. Mrs. Fowler said it was true that it had cured her. Again reassured, that vegetable compound was good for her, she sent for another. The meeting will be held at the office of the company of City of San Francisco, Tuesday, April 9, 1889, at 10 o'clock A.M.

They Are Worn by Soldiers.

Evidence of the value of Alcock's Porous Plasters comes in the following letter from Charles Yeager, of Company A, 11th U.S. Infantry, stationed at Fort Riley, Kansas:

"I have been using Alcock's Porous Plasters for the last ten years, and feel quite lost if I have not a dozen in my possession. In this section of the country we have at times very severe cold. When the thermometer is below zero, I find that an Alcock's Porous Plaster on the spine invariably cure me in two or three days. Sometimes I have had a severe cough and very bad cold. An Alcock's Porous Plaster placed around the throat and on the chest and one between the shoulder blades, have invariably afforded me immediate relief and a quick cure."

THE CENTURY INSISTS THAT FOR THE ATTAINMENT OF THE AMERICAN IDEAL OF GOVERNMENT BY THE governed a pre-essential is suffrage based upon ordinary intelligence and elementary knowledge. The Century is right, and some day, and by no means a distant one, the States will require these essentials to be made manifest by every person who offers to approach the ballot-box. The man who attains the age of twenty-one and cannot read and write has not reached that maturity that in reality qualifies him to be a governor of men, which every voter is.

THE SUPREME COURT OF THE STATE OF ILLINOIS, after a long consideration of the cases, has affirmed the judgments against the Chicago Anarchists, and those precious "reformers" must now serve out their terms in the State Prison. LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Y. M. C. A. MEETING.

Interesting Services in Westminster Presbyterian Church.

An interesting service was held in Westminster Presbyterian Church yesterday afternoon, under the auspices of the Young

Men's Christian Association. The services were conducted by Rev. W. H. Clagett, his singer, Mr. Anis, and the Y. M. C. A. male choir furnishing the music. Fully three hundred men were present, and manifested great interest in the services.

The Chapel was the first part of the Chapel of Life, and Chalice chose the 19th section for his records Luke 10:10. "For the Son of Man is come to seek and to save that which was lost."

He told of a number of striking conversions which had come under his notice, and predicted a searching and practical sermon.

He communicated his earnestness to his auditors

and at the close of his remarks ten of them came forward and acknowledged themselves among the lost whom Jesus "came to seek and save."

Sacramento Business College.

An entertainment was given by the pupils of the Sacramento Business College

Saturday evening. The spacious assembly-room was filled with a representative audience. Professor E. C. Atkinson, the Principal, in a few opening remarks said that the object of all of these entertainments was to give young ladies and gentlemen an incentive to self-culture

and development; that an important feature of each of the entertainments would be a home recitation.

The business man and the pleasure man

was to be the chief feature of the entertainment. The object of the latter was to make the students realize that it was much neglected as that of speaking in public, and that a man who was able to stand before an audience and express his thoughts in a forcible and pleasing manner

was a man of real worth.

He spoke of the dangers of superficial accomplishment; that the beauty and grace of oratory lay not in its smooth and rounded

periods, its gentle cadences or its graceful circumlocution, but in the clear, forcible thought in the words of the user of the beautiful and the true.

He announced the following programme, which was admirably rendered: Piano solo, "Cachouche," Captain R. H. M. G. Barrett; recitation, "Love and Duty," Miss Barrett; Susses' essay, "Intellectual Culture," Oliva-

A. Hoy; song, "Fly Forth, O Gentle Dove," Miss Ruby Merleky; a business talk, Frank M. Miller; Mr. Miller's remarks were highly instructive and practical; stand-point oration, "Practical Talent," Richard G. Hart; recitation, "Order for a Picture," Miss Emilie M. Connally; instrumental duet (cornet and piano), Mr. White and Mrs. Clark; address, by James W. Anderson, Superintendent San Francisco public schools.

Bainbridge College Entertainment.

Saturday evening the Bainbridge Normal Literary Society gave an entertainment at the College Hall. The attendance was quite large, and the entertainment

pleasing and instructive.

Nearly the entire programme was rendered by students of the college, and all did their best to do it.

The drama was well rendered, every part of which was well sustained.

The duty by Mrs. Bainbridge and Miss Noyes

(Italian) from the open of March, was artistic and brilliant. The programme was as follows:

Vocal solo, Miss Kate Winn;

recitation, Miss Lizzie Fleuning; piano

duet, Misses Melina and Neubourg; vocal solo, Miss Kate Meloy; recitation, Miss

M. A. Bainbridge and Misses N. J.

Bainbridge and Misses Noyes; business

Drama—Mr. Manning, Paul Maslin; Mrs.

Manning, Miss Josie Jacobs; Marcus

Graves; Simon, Miss Curtis

Simone; Nancy Nipper, Miss Little Landers;

Nancy McGehee, Miss Landers; Mr.

McGehee. The Committee of Arrangements

consisted of D. W. Carmichael, A. J.

Brown, Geo. J. Bentley, Miss F. May Zimmerman; Myrtle Ross, Louie Johnson,

Professor M. N. Kimball.

The Knights Templar.

The officers and members of Sacramento

Commandery No. 2, Knights Templar, are already making preparations to attend the Triennial Convocation, which will be held at Washington, D. C., on the 5th of October next.

The first and most important matter

to be attended to is the securing of suitable quarters. As the Convocation of this year is to be held at the capital of the nation there can no doubt that the crowd in attendance will be as great as ever as

as that in Chicago in 1880, when there were over 500,000 visitors in that city. Security Commander has been offered sacraments in the Alpine Hotel, and Commander

W. H. Davis has been chosen to close at on at once as the terms offered are very favorable.

It is necessary, however, that he should know how many of the Knights will go, and numbers should be sent at once. The Knights will be held at the Court House, and the general central located. It is situated on Fourteenth and Fifteenth streets, near the City Hall, and only one block from Pennsylvania Avenue. Round-trip tickets are to be sold at very low rates,

and it is expected that a large number of

Knights and ladies will go with this city.

He Will Not.

On Friday the following telegram was forwarded to Governor Waterman:

Sacramento, March 22, 1889.

His Excellency, Wm. C. Waterman, Governor of the State of California, San Diego, Cal.

We undersigned, in behalf of the citizens of Sacramento, and the same we desire you to send for and sign a copy of the following telegram, the tenor of which refers to the improvement of the State of California, and the Hon. H. C. Moore, Attorney General of the State of California.

The city feel an earnest interest in the passage of the Act mentioned, and anxiously await your early reply.

Very truly yours,

J. W. STEPHENS, Joseph Stephens,

K. SIMMONS, F. B. DAVIS, E. C. Hart, W. M. COOPER, T. J. COOPER, J. C. COOPER, T. V. COOPER, T. F. COOPER, and T. M. LINLEY.

A. T. O'NEILL, John O'Neill.

W. W. WATERMAN.

He was received.
